

POETRY.

From the London New Monthly Magazine.

I CAN'T DECIDE.

I can't decide, I can't decide!
And know not what to do;
I'm so perplex'd, and teased, and tried,
Between my suitors two.
The charms of each I fairly scan,
I weigh their merits well;
But which must be the happy man
Is more than I can tell.
I ponder o'er, but cannot see
Which way the odds incline;
Sir William, he is twenty-three,
Sir Paul is sixty-nine.
'Tis three to one in point of age,
And that's a difference wide;
But hear me out, and I'll engage
You'll say I can't decide.
I've thought it o'er from week to week;
The odds may seem to be told—
Sir William has a blooming cheek,
Sir Paul has bags o' gold;
Sir William's fair, well-shaped and tall,
He has my heart, 'tis clear;
But there's the pin-money with Sir Paul,
Three thousand pounds a year.
My choice unfix'd between them floats;
With equal claims they stand;
This has a hand at tender notes,
That tenders notes of hand.
On either side they rise to view,
'Tis quite perplexing still;
Here I see many a billet d'ou,
There does upon a bill.
Sir William is a charming youth—
So well he plays and sings;
And then he vows eternal truth,
And says such tender things.
Sir Paul's a dull old stupid bore—
The truth can't be denied—
But who'd refuse a coach and four?
Indeed I can't decide.
I can't decide—but hark! I hear
Sir Paul, as I'm alive!
'Tis said three thousand pounds a year,
But now I'll make it five.
Five thousand pounds! 'tis stars! the die
Is cast, and I'm your bride!
Fate has ordain'd it, so I'll cry
No more—I can't decide!"

NOTES AMBROSIANÆ.—From Blackwood.

North.—Oh the blind breasts of men! Because in the weakness of our nature we cannot read ourselves enough from sense, we often seek to clothe the being of Spirit in the vain shadows of material form! But we must aspire to a constant conviction that at the verge and brink of this material nature in which we stand, there is an abyss of being, unfathomable to all our thoughts! Unknown existences incomprehensible to an infinite world! Of what mighty powers may dwell there—what wonders may be there disclosed—what mutation and revolution of being, or what depths of immutable repose, we know nothing. Shut up in our finite sense, we are severed for a while, on our spot of the universe, from those boundless immortals. How near they may be to us we know not, or in what manner they may be connected with us—around us or within us! This vast expanse of worlds, stretching into our heavens many thousand times beyond the reach of our powerful sight—all this may be—as a spec of darkness!

Shepherd.—I was Dr Chambers heard ye, sir.
North.—I wish he did. And may we, with our powers fed on matters and drenched in sense, think to solve the question of what being may be beyond?—Take upon us impudently to judge whether there be a world unsearchable to us, or whether this matter on which we stand be all? And by the measure of our sense circumscribe all the possibilities of creation, while we pretend to be believe in the Almighty? If where we cannot know, we must yet needs choose our belief, oh! let us choose with better hope that belief which more humbles ourselves—and in bowed down and fearful awe, not in presumptuous intelligence, look forth from the stillness of our souls into the silence of unknown Being!

Shepherd.—I may weel be mute, sir. Sit nearer me, sir, and gie me your haun'—and lay't on my shouter, if ye're no quite dune.

North.—I would fain speak to the youth of my native land, James—

Shepherd.—And donna they a' read the Notes?

North.—and ask them—when the kindling imagination bends itself with intellectual Thought—when the awakened, ardent, aspiring intelligence begins in the joy of young desire to lift itself in high conception to the stately minds that have lived upon the earth—when it begins to feel the pride of hope and power, to glow with conscious energy, to create thoughts of its own of the destinies of that race to which it rejoices to belong—do not then, I ask them, all the words which the mighty of old have dropped from their kindling lips concerning the Emanation of the Eternal Mind, which dwells in a form of dust, fall like sparks, setting the hope of immortality in a blaze—

"The sudden blaze
Far round illumines heaven?"

If, while engaged in the many speculations in which our studious youth have been involved, they suffer themselves to be dragged for a time from that primal belief, do they find a weight of darkness and perplexity come over them, which they will strive in vain to shake off?—But as soon as they re-awaken to the light of their first conviction, that heavy dream will be gone. "I can give no account"—such an one might say—"nor record of this conviction. I drew it from no dictate of reason. But it has grown upon me through all the years of my existence. I cannot collect together the arguments on which I believe, but they are forever rising round me anew, and in new power, every moment I draw my breath. At every step I take of enquiry into my own being, they burst upon me in different unexpected forms. If I have leaned to the side of the material philosophy, every thing that I understood before was darkened—my clearest way was perplexed. I believed at first, because the desire of my soul cleaved to the thought of its lofty original. I believe now, because the doctrine is a light to me in the difficulties of science—a clue in labyrinth otherwise inextricable.

Above water these walls will be faced, on one side, with granite in courses, and backed by good rubble work; the thickness being reduced, by a slight batter in front and by offsets in the rear, to 7 feet at the top. The top course of these pier walls will be composed of stones not less than 15 feet thick, 10 feet long, and two feet broad—all laid as headers. The space enclosed by the pier walls will be filled; first with refuse stones to the height of low water, and then with as much gravel as may be required to fill all the interstices. Upon a part of this surface a strong grillage will be laid of the size necessary for the foundation of a Light House; upon this grillage a mass, 7 feet high, of dry rubble masonry will be laid, and thereon a mass, of rubble masonry in mortar, 3 feet high. The space around this foundation will be filled, first with refuse stones carefully packed, and then with gravel. The top of the Pier (10 feet above low water) will be formed by a pavement of large granite stones.

For further particulars, and an inspection of the plans, personal application must be made to the subscriber, or in his absence, to John B. Lyon, Newspaper Editor.

The proposals may embrace the supply of all the materials, and the execution of all the work—or, separate proposals may be made for the supply of the granite—for the delivery of the filling-in stone and gravel—for the execution of the work under water, including, or not including, the materials—and for the execution of the work above water, including, or not, the materials.

The Pier to be completed by the 31st December, 1835. The Dike to be completed by the 31st December, 1836.

SPRING AND SUMMER MEDICINE.—JAUNDICE BITTERS.—Dr Warner's Purifying Bitters or Family Corrective.—In the spring of the year, every one is troubled more or less with a propensity to sleep, and by the use of this corrective it can be obviated entirely. For purifying and eradicating all kinds of humors from the blood, even if they appear externally in the face, or any part of the body, it is much better and far more efficacious than any external application; in fact I seldom knew it to fail in proving effectual.

The patient will find it operates more in the blood than any other preparation they ever resorted to; it is far better than salts, sulphur, cream tartar, or any preparation of the kind, for when the blood is once purified with this corrective, it remains in an even temperature through the summer months. For a foul stomach, jaundice, general debility, weakness of the limbs, want of appetite, bilious and liver complaints, headache, stupor &c. &c. For the catarrh, which is generally occasioned by the impure state of the blood, there is nothing extant that has proved so efficacious as this purifying corrective. For all effectual remedy. It is really worth the public attention, as every one is aware of the unpleasant, dull heavy feeling, which the spring of the year produces. And by the use of this corrective, it can be obviated entirely; every one who makes use of this valuable preparation, will be astonished at the mild and gentle effect it has on the blood. It can be had wholesale, at No 424 Washington street, and retailed by all the principal Druggists in Boston and vicinity.

DR SACKETT'S DOCK AND ELDER LOTION.—prepared from his Receipt. For softening and beautifying the Complexion. Its efficacy is known by hundreds, for whitening and beautifying the Skin—removes Freckles, and all kinds of Eruptions, Scorrula and Salt Rheum. As an application to the face, when it has been exposed to the sun, there is nothing so cooling, and effectual in removing the redness caused by the heat.

This inestimable Lotion is for sale at the Chemist Store of WM BROWN, corner of Washington and Elliot sts, also retailed by all the principal Druggists.

MONDAY, MARCH 30, 1836.

NOTICE.—The Democratic citizens of Boston, friendly to the National Administration, are hereby requested to meet at the Old Common Council Room, Court Square, to-morrow, 31st inst., at half past seven o'clock, P. M., for the purpose of choosing a County Committee for the ensuing year, agreeably to the recommendation of the Legislative Convention.

CHARLES HENSHAW, Chairman C. C.
Boston, March 26, 1835.

Mr Advocate feels rather sore under our rub upon his marketable properties, and protests lustily that he has not sold the Anti-masons, and will not sell the anti-Catholics. But has he not become entirely man upon the awful A. B. C. plot, and actually lost the use of his tongue about the conspiracy against "Elder Witherell's head board?" Nay more, is he not in close embrace with Mr. Ex-Grand Master BENJAMIN RUSSELL, and all the Royal Arch companions in supporting Mr. Everett for Governor? Mr. Everett, a federalist of the old school—a member of the SECRET, mind we do not say treasonable, association, the WASHINGTON BENEVOLENT SOCIETY, is the candidate of the old federal masons—of the Bank party and the panic party. He is supported by them because he entertains and supports the principles and cardinal points of faith of those parties. Yet Mr Advocate lends his aid to help forward the candidate of this great masonic officer. If rumor is to be credited, this may not be so much a matter of taste as policy—there are those so uncharitable as to intimate, that the Advocate rushes under the standard of the enemy to conceal the paucity of its own numbers. Perhaps we should not have called this a sale, but only a transfer. Our own opinion, however, and we trust the modest Advocate will forgive our presumption, is, that the old democrats who are anti-masons will vote for Judge Morton, and the federal anti-masons for Everett, and thus will end antinasonry in this State.

There was a paper started in this city some months ago, called the Reformer, with which we were desired to exchange, and consented—shortly after it set sail it commenced an unprovoked attack upon ourselves and our press, and has continued it, for aught we know or care, up to this time—we were apprised of the pitiful and selfish motive of this attack, and therefore let it pass unnoticed. We knew that it was made for the purpose of gratifying disappointed and undeserving men, and to injure, and if possible break up, the Democratic party in Boston. But a knowledge of the individuals who were the authors of this intended mischief, and the general intelligence of those they attempted to deceive by their pupile hypocrisy, were sufficient to defeat their schemes. Thus failing to attract our attention by abuse, the Reformer commenced piñering from our columns, and for this we declined to exchange with it. It was the Reformer that first refused "common editorial courtesies," by copying our paragraphs without credit, thus proving itself as mean in private, as it was false in public. As this is the first, and will probably be the last time, we shall notice the paper above alluded to, it may not be amiss to inform our readers that most of its statements relative to the Post and its Editor are bald falsehoods. Its various accounts of the meeting held at the Old Common Council Room to elect a Delegate to the Baltimore Convention, in which it is asserted that C. G. Greene opposed, at the commencement of the meeting, or at any stage of it, sending two Delegates, is untrue; he was in favor of sending two from the beginning to the end, and went there prepared with tickets bearing Mr. Foster's name as one of them. The attempt to appropriate Mr. F. exclusively to themselves, by the disorganizers, is upon a par with their pretensions to patriotism and fair dealing, for we now have a letter in our possession, received from Mr. F. within a few days, in which he highly deprecates the spirit of discord which these men have endeavored to foment. The claim set up by the Reformer as being the Workingmen's organ, and only friend, will receive more credit when it is acknowledged by the Workingmen themselves, than when only asserted by the Priest and the Trinity of Lawyers who manage it—nor will the belief in its sincerity in crying out against all corporations, banks, and stockholders, be strengthened by the fact that one of its principal supporters is the Cashier of a Bank, and that the weekly thing is kept upon its feet by the pecuniary contributions of a Bank Director, while its main backer is one of the largest stockholders in an immense corporation, in this city. So much for the immaculate purity of the Trio of Law-craft and Priestcraft, Bankites and Corporationists, who are trying to cheat the honest Workingmen, and impose themselves upon the Democracy of the State.

Tolerance.—We copy the following paragraph from the New York Evening Post, to show our Democratic friends that the course we have pursued relative to the Catholic question, is the one recommended by the strongest supporters of EQUAL RIGHTS:—

"If we may draw an inference from the indications of bigotry and prejudice which have lately fallen under our notice, the day is at hand when a strenuous attempt will be made to institute political and civil disabilities against the Catholics. That such an attempt will ever be successful in this country we entertain little fear. It would be an evil day for the great principles of liberty which our government supports and illustrates, when any religious preferences or discriminations should be interwoven with our fundamental law."

The Hon. Wm. P. Walker, of Lenox, has assumed "the position" which Deacon Armstrong declined, and is now the Whig candidate for Lt. Governor of Massachusetts. The number attending the Legislative Convention which nominated him, was something less than that comprising the Boston delegation.

"The Pittsburgh papers speak in glowing terms of the activity of business in that city."—U. S. Phil. Gaz.

How does this verify the predictions in the famous Pittsburgh Panic Memorial? In Boston, we are informed by intelligent newsmen the Spring business never commenced under more favorable prospects than at present.

The Board of Managers of the Young Men's Colonization Society of Pennsylvania, propose to commence the publication of a semi-monthly periodical, under the supervision of the Executive Committee, to be called the "COLONIZATION HERALD," and to be at once the organ of official communication, the depository of Colonization intelligence, and the general advocate of the African race. Price $1 per annum, in advance. The first number will be issued early in April.

Tremont Theatre.—Miss Jarman and Mr Ternan appear this evening for the last time this season, and for the benefit of Mr Ternan. The high opinion formed of Miss Jarman's histrionic powers during her first engagement, has not been lessened, and she may fairly be considered a very great favorite in Boston. She has played to good houses, and with great success, and has secured a reputation which will ensure her a flattering reception when she again visits us. The bill for this evening is worth attention, and will secure a full house.

We advise Mr Barry to engage Senator Poindexter for a few nights—they are driving a good business with him in Philadelphia. They shut him up in the Chesnut Street Theatre, and charged thirty-three cents for a sight. The ladies thought it was not worth the money.

Anti-Meat Society.—The Essex Gazette, an intemperate Temperance journal, is commencing a crusade against meat eaters—here is the first verse—

"In hot countries they loathe the sight of meat.—During our own dog days, it requires a good appetite to eat it. The sooner we cease to be beast eaters, the better. Let every one who wishes in earnest to promote health, economy, virtue and peace, totally abstain from meat. There is no middle course. No man deserves any credit as a temperance man, who sacrifices beasts, birds and fish to gratify his thirst of blood. Let the past be forgiven, we sinned without knowledge; but when all the facts are brought before the public, there will be no excuse for carnivorality."

The following paragraph, from the N. Y. Times, does not look much like the horrible distress the Panickites predicted:—

"Strangers are flocking to our city in great numbers. They are principally merchants who have come for their spring supplies."

Some apprehension is expressed by the New York editors that the celebration of the anniversary of the Anti-Slavery Society, in that city, will be attended with tumult.

Yankee Hill was at Mobile on the 10th, and was to appear on his benefit night, in five of his favorite characters. Enough is not as good as a feast, in Mobile, it would seem.

The last Essex Gazette has, under its editorial head, the following line:—

"THE EDITOR IS ABSENT."

If his devil had added—

"AND WILL NOT SOON RETURN!"—we have no doubt all his subscribers would respond AMEN.

The Dover Gazette states, that preparations are making in Lowell for the erection of thirteen new factories the ensuing summer. A new worsted factory has been lately put in operation.

A distinction without a difference.—"Charles," said an indulgent father, "didn't I tell you not to eat that orange until after dinner?" "I ain't eating it, sir, I'm only sucking it."

For the Boston Morning Post.

Mr Editor.—I was somewhat amused at a pitiful attempt to ridicule Vernumers, in an article signed "Ichabod Hooker," in your paper of this morning. Allow me to say, sir, that the true Green Mountain Boys think that articles of this and similar character, are much better delineations of the taste, spirit, and general information of the writers of them, than of those they are intended to ridicule. "Hope I don't intrude."

A VERMONTIER.

Noble Johnson, William Wallace Stewart, and Dummy, the three individuals charged with an attempt to murder, and afterwards robbing John Perrine, on the night of the 11th inst. have all been apprehended and were examined before Esquire Glenn yesterday morning. The evidence of Perrine, who we are happy to say, was so far recovered as to be able to attend the examination, went directly to fasten the guilt upon Dummy and Stewart. After he had been enticed to an appointed spot, he was seized by the collar or stock with both hands by Dummy and instantaneously struck on the nose by Stewart with a large stone. Perrine then called out "murder" twice when the last named villain said "Damn you, I'll stop you from that," and taking Dummy's hand from his stock, drew his knife across his throat. The property taken from Perrine was a silver lever watch and seven dollars of money. The watch was afterwards found upon Dummy. For want of evidence Johnson was discharged, but, the "Squire" stated, enough had been produced to excite strong suspicions of his guilt. He was however, arrested before leaving the Justice's office, upon another charge of stealing and receiving stolen goods. He was again remanded to prison.—Cincinnati Republican.

Melancholy Accident.—The Bangor Daily Whig relates a melancholy accident which occurred in Solon in that State on Wednesday last. David Spencer, who was at work near his father's house getting out fire-wood, was killed, together with his parents, in the following singular manner:—"The son had just felled a large beach tree, which lodged in the upper branches against another tree, while the butt of it slipped over the stump, caught his foot, and pinned him to the ground. His screams for assistance brought out his parents, and the father seized a stick of wood, with which both of them labored to remove the tree, which being somewhat decayed, suddenly broke in the middle, and falling, crushed all three of these unfortunate beings to death."—Merc.

Mt. Pleasant, March 24.—Fatal Affray.—A serious affray occurred among the laborers employed at the government works at Throg's Point, on Sunday evening, the 8th inst., in which James Golden was so severely wounded by a blow on the head with a spade, that he has since died. Three of the men concerned, are now in our County Jail, awaiting their trial at the Oyer and terminer in April next.—Westchester Spy.

Prosecution of a Clergyman.—The Jamaica (W. I.) Despatch states that a prosecution has been instituted against the Rev Mr Taylor, for persuading the negro apprentices (as the semi-emancipated slaves are called) not to obey the orders of the Special Magistrates appointed by the King. It is said that the effect of his advice was such that on one plantation where the negroes used to make fifty hogsheds of sugar a week they now make only about twelve.

POLICE COURT.

Melancholy fate of two young lovers.—Ebenzer Allen and Miss Hannah Hardy were arrested for a public display of their mutual affection. They commenced their tender caresses in Ann street, near the residence of a prim colored citizen, who stated that his "house of propriety was excessively shocked by their lugging up, and he drove them away." It appeared from the Constable's testimony, that the fond pair, chased by a gang of unsentimental hooting varlets, took refuge in a boat, from which they were removed and carried to jail. Miss Hannah pleaded guilty; and so did her deary, with the addition, however, of a saving clause—"I say I'm guilty; but I beg forgiveness."

Court.—This is rather a bad business Allen for a man who appears to be decent; you are in a dangerous way, and unless you are checked now, you will soon be ruined. The best thing I can do for you, is to sentence you to ten days hard labor in the common jail—

Allen.—I feel what you say very sensibly; I know I was a little careless; but if it's just as easy for you, I'd rather be forgiven—

Court.—And to you, girl, a sentence of three months in the House of Correction will be an act of mercy instead of punishment.

Hannah.—[weeping bitterly]—I don't mind the punishment, it's the disgrace of the thing I look at, nobody's thought any thing on, after they have been there.

Constable.—I guess your character won't suffer—don't be very much distressed on that account.

To this usual specimen of constable consolation, the irony of which stung her sensitive soul to the quick, she spiritedly replied—"If one would stand up for her character, she won't stand up for any thing."

Michael Cain has been long subject to periodical sprees, attended with brandishing spasm in the arms, a clenching of fists, and very offensive breakings out about the mouth. On Friday night he entered a tavern, and informing the bar-keeper that he was "on a spree, and was going the whole figure," demanded liquor with a very knock-you-down air. The liquor being denied him, he became highly exasperated, offered battle, and when turned out, threatened to shoot the keeper of the house, and after he was arrested, tried to draw a knife upon a watchman. In reply to this catalogue of his manifold transgressions, he pleaded "a wife and two children in Lowell, entirely depending on him for support." His honor, however, thought such a Cain was but a poor stick for the support of a family, and gave him a complement of two months, which drew from him the murmuring answer—"That's what I call being hard down on a lad, that never did harm to any one—I know I am apt to blow out my steam pretty well, when I get a heater on, but I never laid hand to man since I first landed in America."

Hannah Brown, a neat little old lady of 65, had, according to her own story, strayed away from the almshouse, on Thursday, and, as the walking was sloppy, got her feet wet, and she called in upon an old croney to dry them. Her old friend had had considerable experience that way, and knew what was the best kind of medicine to administer, "to prevent the chills from striking in." But the most established prescription sometimes fails, and, in the present instance, by the combined operation of the cold wet without, and the warm "wet" within, she entirely lost the use of her feet and head. In this state of moral, mental, and physical debility, she was taken to the wanderer's home, in Loverett street. "I was very much overcome," said she; "but I hope you won't send me to the house of correction to be cured. I don't know how it happened; unless it was by what I took to keep my wet feet from striking to my stomach." Advised to return to the alms house.

Jake Robson had been slanderously accused of drinking more than was healthy; and, like a man of true spirit, was determined to "have the game, since he had the name." Therefore, on Saturday night, he procured a quart of gin, and on Sunday, in defiance of his slanderers, openly wet his whistle with it every half hour, amusing himself in the interim, by threatening to "knock every one into the middle of the next week," who should dare to insinuate that he was intemperate. Jake kept on this tack three or four days, threatening great bodily mischief to every member, till, "harried out of their lives," they sought relief at the throne of justice, by which he was sentenced to pay a fine of $3.00, and costs, and committed to jail, for the want of the cash.

Norfolk, March 1.—The Edward Vincent lately stranded at Lynhaven Bay, valued at $10,000, under a survey was stripped, condemned and ordered to be sold for whom it might concern. She has been recovered at a trifling expense, and is under repairs at Norfolk, and may be expected in a few days to resume her station in the line of packets.

The brig Julia and Helen, with 300 hogsheds sugar, stranded near the E. V., has been got off and arrived at Norfolk with trifling injury. The brig Sterling, laden with Flour and Tobacco, within 5 miles of the two former—under a survey was also condemned and prematurely sold as she lay—but by a reasonable interference of the agent for underwriters, she will revert back, and leave the parties interested to adjust their claims on the principles of insurance.—Jour. Com.

Brig Mordecai, Capt Donell, hence for Gibraltar, founded on Tuesday morning last, 50 miles S. E. of Barnegat. Schooner Joseph Bonner, Capt Elockman, was east ashore five miles north of Barnegat, on the same night. She was from Richmond for Newport with coal.—Ibid.

Mr Z. Mitchell, on Tuesday afternoon, made a balloon ascension from Baltimore, for the benefit of the Seamstresses, who were present in great numbers.—He ascended to 7000 feet, and coming down rather rapidly, from the valve being severed, dashed against a tree near the farm of Mr Buck, without, however, receiving any injury.

The following are among the answers of a London journal to importuning correspondents:—"The person who inquires about the best stuff for the growth of the whiskers, is referred to his mamma."—"It is impossible to notice every pamphlet sent to this office. The one in question was received, perused and—destroyed. Need we say more?"

Treaty with the Cherokees.—We learn from the Milledgeville Federal Union of the 17th inst., that a treaty has been made with the Cherokees, for the entire extinguishment of all their claims to lands east of the Mississippi, giving them in exchange an ample territory in the west, with a large sum in money.—N. Y. Sun.

MASSACHUSETTS LEGISLATURE.

Bill to incorporate the proprietors of Chelsea Point Bridge; authorizing the construction of a Wharf in Taunton Great River; also in the town of Harwich; passed to a third reading. Bills to incorporate the proprietors of the Middlesex High School; the Eagle Mill Manufacturing Company; passed to a third reading.

In the Senate, Mr Hall, member elect from Suffolk, appeared, was qualified, and took his seat. Bills regulating the Pilotage in Boston Harbor; concerning tolls on the Pawtucket Canal; concerning the Grammar School in Ipswich; establishing the Wilmington and Andover Railroad; ceding to the United States a site for a lighthouse near Marblehead; passed to be engrossed, in concurrence. Sunday bills which were yesterday passed in the House, were severally passed to be enacted, in concurrence. The discussion on the Warren Bridge question was again resumed, and continued till the time of adjournment, without taking any question thereon.

Spring.—March, with her variations, is at our door. A cloud—a dash of rain—a blow of wind and then sunshine, all come and go in the course of the morning. The entertainment concludes with, perhaps, snow in the afternoon, and a pelting hail at night. As the month glides over, you perceive exactly where winter and spring are dovetailed together, and easily trace the irregular line between the two frames, now the tenon of winter setting into the mortice of spring, and now otherwise. The variations of the month, somewhat resemble those of life—especially the life of a bachelor—for the nights are uniformly cold and cheerless.—Trenton Emp.

Further abuses of the Franking Privilege.—Within the last few days the following packages of franked documents have passed through the Post Office of this city:—

Franked by Smith of Conn.	2 bags, weighing 200 lbs.
" Robbins of R. I.	2 bags, " 200
" Knight do 2 bags,	" 200

PASSAGE FROM IRELAND TO BOSTON, VIA LIVERPOOL.
